PETER OPPENEER
CLERK US DIST COURT

Donald Mains [REDACTED]-9505) vs. Andrew Saul of Social Security Administration

Office Of The Court
United States District Court
Western District of Wisconsin

Your Honour,

I feel like I have fully proved my case. You have my medical records that show that I have been disabled since December of 1996. All those medical records I was deemed 100% disabled in 2009 especially from the Mayo Clinic and Polinski hall. As far as Gail Baldwin's medical records when I was denied initially, I did the footwork and provided the other medical records and received finally part of my disability benefits. You have my Schedule C tax forms except for 2006 which shows my gross earnings for all the years of 2001-2008. If you notice under Schedule C it says 1040 tax form, that is my personal taxes. Everyone else that files on a 1040 tax form their gross earnings are used to calculate their benefits and it is on their earnings record. I also provided my earnings record from the Social Security Administration and it does not have my gross earnings from 2001-2008. According to the pamphlet from the Social Security Administration your benefits are a percentage based off of your earnings earned over your lifetime.

When did the House and the Senate pass legislation and the President signed into law that when people file their taxes under their name and Social Security number on a 1040 tax form, which is your personal taxes filed with the IRS, that it is no longer your personal taxes but self employment. Now according to the Social Security Administration everyone files their personal taxes on a 1040 tax form. So with that, no longer is your gross earnings you use on your personal taxes for your benefits and your net earnings are used instead under self employment according to the Social Security Administration.

If you are ruling that I did not appeal within 60 days why have you not contacted any of my witnesses? They would have verified I tried appealing many times and was denied at the Social Security Administration counter that they would not give them to me.

You have a few days yet before my next disability check to have the Social Security Administration update my earnings record so I could receive what I'm entitled to.

Sincerely,

Donald Mains
